Thursday 29th April 2010

Worked hard to lessen the environmental impact of your product or service? Committed to sustainability issues?

If so, then more than 30 major buyers want to meet YOU!

Pre-arranged meetings with major UK buyers who are actively looking for innovative sustainable products and services

Northern Sustainable Solutions 'Meet the Buyers' provides you with a unique and cost-effective method of presenting your sustainable products and services directly to major UK buyers. Key decision makers and budget holders from more than 30 private and public sector organisations will be conducting introductory meetings with local innovative sustainable suppliers like you.

We find the buyers for you which saves you time and money – no cold calling or marketing needed!

Over the last three months we have recruited more than 30 major UK buyers who are actively looking for local suppliers who can help improve the sustainability of their supply chain. This unique event reverses the traditional exhibition concept in that buyers have a meeting booth on the day, where you will be able to conduct your pre-arranged appointments. These buyers have committed to this event with the sole aim of meeting potential suppliers, saving you days of research, frustrating cold calling and wasted marketing budget.

30 major buyers are looking to meet companies who can offer a clear environmental advantage

The buyers attending are looking for local suppliers who can demonstrate a clear sustainability advantage over the competition. If your product or service has been developed with a view to lessen your customers' environmental impact, for just £75 +VAT per delegate, this could be the event for you.
